Agenda Item #1 – Call to Order and Introduction of the Workshop Process

The public workshop to solicit comments on proposed regulation was brought to order by Administrator, Robert Thompson at 9:03 am.

Mr. Thompson introduced the proposed regulations under LCB File NO. R139-23P. He thanked the Child Support Guideline Committee for their hard work and collaboration with the Division of Welfare and Supportive Services (DWSS). He stated he recognizes that updating the guidelines is an ongoing and difficult process where the committee considers complex information from several sources, including public comment, then makes recommendations. The Division of Welfare and Supportive Services has thoroughly reviewed the recommendations. Kiersten Gallagher, Chief of the Child Support Enforcement Program under the Division of Welfare and Supportive Services will provide a brief synopsis of the proposed changes being considered. Mr. Thompson stated June 20,2024, is the deadline to receive written public comment for the Division to consider.

Agenda Item #2 – Public Comment

Mr. Thompson called for public comment in Las Vegas: no public comment.

Mr. Thompson called for public comment over the telephone. Public comment was given by Kimberly Surratt, Chair of the Child Support Guideline Committee. Ms. Surratt stated she was disappointed that DWSS has decided to act as a legislative body and make their own changes to the suggestions made by the committee. It is inappropriate and it is legislative action. There are changes that we asked to be made based on knowledge and experience, especially in private cases that DWSS does not have. She stated she is extremely angry that the public comment heard regarding joint-physical custody was disregarded by DWSS. There was no input given by private legal counsel as to what edits to accept from LCB. She does not know to what extent LCB is blamed for the mistakes that were made versus DWSS. It is discouraging that after so much work, effort, public comment, and input from many parties and entities other than DWSS, that they would go rouge and do their own action. Ms. Surratt asked that DWSS consider some of the additional edits that were left out.

Agenda Item #3 – Presentation and Discussion of Proposed Regulation R139-23P

Mr. Thompson asked Ms. Gallagher to summarize the proposed changes being made in LCB File No. R139-23P.

Ms. Gallagher read the proposed changes being made to the regulations See Exhibit A.

The proposed changes to NAC 425 include the following:

- This regulation prescribes the amounts included in a total child support obligation; clarifies certain terminology related to child support obligations; prescribes the manner of calculating a total child support obligation under certain circumstances; defines the term “public assistance”; revises dates of the termination of child support obligations; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.
- Requires courts to determine the total child support obligation by combining the base child support obligation with other amounts.
- Makes various changes to distinguish between a total child support obligation and a base child support obligation
- Requires courts to make certain findings when making an equitable division of the costs of child care between the parties to a child support proceeding, including a finding concerning whether either party has elected to forego or limit employment in order to care for the child.
- Clarifies that such an election does not limit the ability of the court to determine that the obligor is underemployed or unemployed without good cause and impute income to the obligor.
- Requires courts to make an equitable division of the medical support for a child between the parties to a child support proceeding.
- Makes certain clarifications concerning income that qualifies as part of the gross income of a party.
- Requires the obligee to certify that he or she is not receiving cash assistance through Temporary Assistance for Needy Families.
- Requires a court to calculate the total child support obligation of each party where each party has primary physical custody of at least one, but not all, of the children.

- Defines “public assistance” to have a definition prescribed in existing law which excludes the Children’s Health Insurance Program.
- Provides that a child support obligation terminates on the first day of the month immediately following the month the child reaches 18 years of age or, if the child is still in high school, when the child graduates from high school or reaches 19 years of age, whichever comes first.

Agenda Item #4 – Public comment

Mr. Thompson called for public comment in Las Vegas: no public comment.

Mr. Thompson called for public comment over the telephone: no public comment.

Agenda Item #5 – Adjournment

Mr. Thompson adjourned meeting at 9:11am.

SMALL BUSINESS IMPACT STATEMENT

LCB FILE NO. R139-23

PROPOSED CHANGES TO NEVADA ADMINISTRATIVE CODE CHAPTER 425

Pursuant to Nevada Revised Statutes (NRS) 233B.0608(1), the Nevada Division of Welfare and Supportive Services (DWSS) must determine whether the proposed regulations, developed in accordance with Assembly Bill 278, Chapter 371, 79th Session 2017, to establish child support guidelines, are likely to: (a) impose a direct and significant economic burden on small business; or (b) directly restrict the formation, operation, or expansion of a small business. NRS 233B.0382 defines a small business as any business that employs 150 or fewer employees.

BACKGROUND

Title IV of the Social Security Act, Section D (IV-D), oversees the Child Support Enforcement Program, which is assigned under the Division of Welfare and Supportive Services in Nevada. The proposed regulations establish child support guidelines for the calculation of child support and other matters properly relating thereto. The proposed regulations were provided by the Committee to Review Child Support Guidelines, pursuant to Assembly Bill 278, Chapter 371, 79th Session 2017, which created the Committee. The Committee is required to review the child support guidelines established in the State of Nevada and submit recommendations for possible revisions to the Administrator of the Division of Welfare and Supportive Services. The DWSS Administrator is required to review and consider the Committee's recommendations and revise and adopt regulations as deemed appropriate.

The child support guidelines set forth in NRS 125B will be updated upon the Administrator's adoption of the regulations into Chapter 425 of the Nevada Administrative Code.

METHOD

DWSS reviewed and compared the proposed regulations to the sections of NRS 125B which will be updated upon adoption of the regulations. DWSS staff reviewed all forms Nevada's Child Support Enforcement Program uses to correspond with businesses/employers for the purpose of gathering income information and establishing wage withholding.

ANALYSIS

The proposed regulations do not implement any new requirements on Nevada businesses. The duty to support a child is owed by a private individual, not a business. The proposed regulations address how the child support obligation is calculated. The proposed regulations do not alter any other law or regulation specific to gathering income information or serving wage withholding documents on businesses acting as employers. The regulations do not alter the information all employers are mandated to provide under federal law to establish, modify and enforce child support obligations. The regulations also do not alter the federal wage withholding requirements. Additionally, forms specific to wage withholding are federal and will not change based on the proposed regulations.

Section 466 of the Social Security Act (Act) (42 U.S.C. 666) contains the list of specific child support enforcement procedures that each State is required to have in place in order to satisfy the State Plan requirements of section 454 of the Act. (See 42 U.S.C. 666(a)(1) and (b).) Additionally, subsection 454A(g) of the Social Security Act requires the transmission of an income withholding order to the employer within two business days from the date a State Child Support Enforcement agency receives notice of the source of income. In addition, this subsection requires the State Child Support Enforcement agencies to issue an income withholding order using the "uniform formats prescribed by the Secretary." (See 42 U.S.C. 654A(g)(1)(A) and 666 (b)(6)(A)(ii).) The proposed regulations do not alter these provisions of the Act. The Nevada Revised Statutes related to wage verification and withholding found in NRS 31A and NRS 425 remain unchanged.

DETERMINATION

The proposed regulations do not implement any new requirement on Nevada businesses, and therefore, the proposed regulation will not impose a direct and significant economic burden upon small businesses and will not directly restrict the formation, operation, or expansion of small business.

CERTIFICATION BY PERSON RESPONSIBLE FOR THE AGENCY

I, Robert H. Thompson, Administrator of the Nevada Division of Welfare and Supportive Services, certify to the best of my knowledge or belief, that a concerted effort was made to determine the impact of the proposed regulation on small businesses, and the information contained in this statement was prepared properly and is accurate.

PROPOSED REGULATION OF THE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE DIVISION OF WELFARE AND SUPPORTIVE SERVICES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

LCB File No. R139-23

February 23, 2024

EXPLANATION – Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets ~~omitted material~~ is material to be omitted.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1-11, NRS 425.620.

A REGULATION relating to child support; prescribing the amounts included in a total child support obligation; clarifying certain terminology related to child support obligations; prescribing the manner of calculating a total child support obligation under certain circumstances; defining the term “public assistance” for certain purposes relating to the calculation of a child support obligation; revising the date on which certain child support obligations terminate; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel’s Digest:

Existing federal law and regulations require each state to establish child support guidelines and to review such guidelines at least once every 4 years to ensure that the application of such guidelines results in appropriate awards of child support. (42 U.S.C. § 667(a); 45 C.F.R. § 302.56(e)) Existing Nevada law requires the Administrator of the Division of Welfare and Supportive Services of the Department of Health and Human Services to adopt regulations prescribing such guidelines in accordance with that federal law. (NRS 425.620) Existing law requires a court of this State to apply those guidelines when: (1) determining the required support in any case involving the support of children; or (2) changing the amount of the required support of children. (NRS 125B.080) Existing regulations provide for the calculation of a base child support obligation and the addition to that obligation of amounts for child care costs, medical support and certain other adjustments. (NAC 425.130- 425.150) Section 1 of this regulation requires a court to determine the total child support obligation by combining the base child support obligation with those other amounts. Sections 3-5 and 9 of this regulation make various changes to distinguish between a total child support obligation and a base child support obligation. Section 7 of this regulation requires a court to make certain findings when making an equitable division of the costs of child care between the parties to a child support proceeding, including a finding concerning whether either party has elected to forego or limit employment in order to care for the child. Section 6 of this regulation clarifies that such an election does not limit the ability of the court to determine that the obligor is underemployed or unemployed without good cause and impute income to the obligor. Section 8 of this regulation requires a court to make an equitable division of the medical support for a child between the parties to a child support proceeding.

Existing regulations: (1) require a court to determine the base child support obligation based on the gross monthly income of the obligor; and (2) use the gross income of a party as a factor in certain other determinations related to the calculation of the total child support obligation. (NAC 425.135-425.150) Section 2 of this regulation makes certain clarifications concerning income that qualifies as part of the gross income of a party.

Existing regulations authorize the parties to a child support proceeding to stipulate to a child support obligation that does not comply with the guidelines for the support of one or more children. Existing regulations require such a stipulation to contain a certification by the obligee that he or she is not currently receiving public assistance and has not applied for public assistance. (NAC 425.110) Section 4 of this regulation instead requires the obligee to certify that he or she is not receiving cash assistance through Temporary Assistance for Needy Families.

Where the parties have two or more children and each party has joint physical custody of at least one, but not all, of the children, existing regulations require a court to determine the total child support obligation of each party based on the number of children to whom each party owes a child support obligation. (NAC 425.115) Section 5 additionally requires a court to calculate the total child support obligation of each party in that manner where each party has primary physical custody of at least one, but not all, of the children.

Existing regulations authorize a court to adjust a child support obligation based on certain factors, including any public assistance paid to support the child. (NAC 425.150) Section 10 of this regulation defines “public assistance” for that purpose to have a definition prescribed in existing law which excludes the Children’s Health Insurance Program.

Existing regulations provide that a child support obligation for one child terminates when the child reaches 18 years of age or, if the child is still in high school, when the child graduates from high school or reaches 19 years of age, whichever comes first. (NAC 425.160) Section 11 of this regulation provides that such a child support obligation terminates on the first day of the month immediately following the month during which those events occur.

Section 1. Chapter 425 of NAC is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to read as follows:

Except as otherwise provided in NAC 425.110, a court shall determine the total child support obligation of an obligor as the sum of:

1. The base child support obligation as determined pursuant to NAC 425.140 or 425.145, as applicable;

2. Any equitable division of the costs of child care as determined pursuant to NAC 425.130;

3. Any equitable division of medical support determined pursuant to NAC 425.135; and
4. Any adjustments made pursuant to NAC 425.150.

Sec. 2. NAC 425.025 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.025 1. “Gross income” includes, without limitation:

- (a) ~~Salary and~~ Monetary compensation incident to employment, including, without limitation, salary, wages, ~~including, without limitation,~~ commissions and money earned from overtime pay or bonuses if such ~~overtime pay~~ compensation is substantial, consistent and can be accurately determined.
- (b) Interest and investment income, not including the principal.
- (c) Social security disability benefits and old-age insurance benefits under federal law.
- (d) Any periodic payment from a pension, retirement plan or annuity which is considered remuneration for employment.
- (e) Net proceeds resulting from workers’ compensation or other personal injury awards intended to replace income.
- (f) Unemployment insurance.
- (g) Income continuation benefits.
- (h) Voluntary contributions to a deferred compensation plan, employee contributions to an employee benefit or profit-sharing plan, and voluntary employee contributions to any pension or retirement account, regardless of whether the account provides for tax deferral or avoidance.
- (i) Military allowances and veterans’ benefits.
- (j) Compensation for lost wages.
- (k) Undistributed income of a business entity in which a party has an ownership interest sufficient to individually exercise control over or access the earnings of the business, unless the income is included as an asset for the purposes of imputing income pursuant to NAC 425.125.

As used in this paragraph:

(1) “Reasonable allowance for economic depreciation” means the amount of depreciation on assets computed using the straight-line method and useful lives as determined under federal income tax laws and regulations.

(2) “Undistributed income” means federal taxable income of a business entity plus depreciation claimed on the federal income tax return of the business less a reasonable allowance for economic depreciation.

(l) Child care subsidy payments if a party is a child care provider.

(m) Alimony ~~+~~ received.

(n) Income through self-employment that is calculated after deducting all legitimate business expenses but without deducting personal income taxes, contributions for retirement benefits, contributions to a pension or other personal expenses.

(o) Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, all other income of a party, regardless of whether such income is taxable.

2. The term does not include:

(a) Child support received.

(b) Foster care or kinship care payments.

(c) Benefits received under the federal Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program.

(d) Cash benefits paid by a county.

(e) Supplemental security income benefits and state supplemental payments.

(f) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (l) of subsection 1, payments made for social services or any other public assistance benefits.

(g) Compensation for losses, including, without limitation, both general and special damages, from personal injury awards not intended to replace income.

3. This section must not be construed to limit income withholding or the assignment of workers' compensation benefits for the collection of child support.

Sec. 3. NAC 425.100 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.100 1. Any order must be based on the obligor's earnings, income and other evidence of ability to pay.

2. It is presumed that the basic needs of a child are met by a total child support obligation established pursuant to ~~the guidelines set forth in this chapter,~~ section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein, however, this presumption may be rebutted by evidence proving that the needs of a particular child are not met or are exceeded by such a child support obligation.

3. If the court establishes a child support obligation that is greater or less than the total child support obligation that would be established pursuant to ~~the guidelines set forth in this chapter,~~ section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein, the court must:

(a) Set forth findings of fact as to the basis for the ~~deviation~~ adjustment from the ~~guidelines;~~ total child support obligation; and

(b) Provide in the findings of fact the total child support obligation that would have been established pursuant to ~~the guidelines.~~ section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein.

Sec. 4. NAC 425.110 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.110 1. In lieu of having a child support obligation determined pursuant to the guidelines set forth in this chapter, the parties may stipulate to a child support obligation that does not comply with such guidelines. To be binding, such a stipulation must be in writing and:

- (a) Set forth the current monthly gross income of each party;
- (b) Specify what the total child support obligation would be under ~~the guidelines;~~ section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein;
- (c) Provide notice to both parties that, if either party seeks a review of the stipulated child support obligation for any authorized reason, the court will calculate the total child support obligation in accordance with ~~the child support guidelines in effect at the time of the review;~~ section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein;
- (d) Contain a certification by the obligee that he or she is not currently receiving ~~public assistance and has not applied for public assistance;~~ cash assistance through Temporary Assistance for Needy Families;
- (e) Certify that the basic needs of the child are met or exceeded by the stipulated child support obligation; and
- (f) Be approved and adopted as an order of the court.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 1, a court may reject a stipulation if the court determines that the stipulation is a product of coercion or the child support obligation does not meet the needs of the child.

3. As used in this section, “Temporary Assistance for Needy Families” means the program established to provide temporary assistance for needy families pursuant to Title IV of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. §§ 601 et seq., and other provisions of that act relating to temporary assistance for needy families.

Sec. 5. NAC 425.115 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.115 1. If the parties do not stipulate to a child support obligation pursuant to NAC 425.110, the court must determine the total child support obligation in accordance with ~~the~~ ~~guidelines set forth in this chapter.~~ section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein.

2. If a party has primary physical custody of a child, he or she is deemed to be the obligee and the other party is deemed to be the obligor, and the total child support obligation of the obligor must be determined ~~+~~ pursuant to section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein.

3. If the parties have joint physical custody of a child, the total child support obligation of each party must be determined ~~+~~ pursuant to section 1 of this regulation and the sections referenced therein. After each party's respective total child support obligation is determined, the total child support obligations must be offset so that the party with the higher child support obligation pays the other party the difference.

4. If the parties have two or more children and each party has joint physical custody or primary physical custody of at least one, but not all, of the children, the total child support obligation of each party must be determined based on the number of children to whom each party owes a child support obligation. After each party's respective total child support obligation is determined, the child support obligations must be offset so that the party with the higher child support obligation pays the other party the difference.

Sec. 6. NAC 425.125 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.125 1. If after taking evidence, the court determines that an obligor , including, without limitation, an obligor who foregoes or limits employment to care for the child, is underemployed or unemployed without good cause, the court may impute income to the obligor.

2. If the court imputes income, the court must take into consideration, to the extent known, the specific circumstances of the obligor, including, without limitation:

- (a) The obligor's:
 - (1) Assets;
 - (2) Residence;
 - (3) Employment and earnings history;
 - (4) Job skills;
 - (5) Educational attainment;
 - (6) Literacy;
 - (7) Age;
 - (8) Health;
 - (9) Criminal record and other employment barriers; and
 - (10) Record of seeking work;
- (b) The local job market;
- (c) The availability of employers willing to hire the obligor;
- (d) The prevailing earnings level in the local community; and
- (e) Any other relevant background factors in the case.

Sec. 7. NAC 425.130 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.130 ~~The~~ 1. After determining the base child support obligation of an obligor pursuant to NAC 425.140 or 425.145, as applicable, the court must consider the reasonable costs of child care paid by either or both parties and make an equitable division thereof.

2. Every order issued or modified in this State must include, to the extent applicable:

(a) The amount of the costs of child care required to be paid by the obligor; and

(b) Written findings concerning:

(1) The costs of child care proposed by either or both parties;

(2) The cost of reasonable alternatives to the child care proposed by either or both parties;

(3) The ability of both parties to pay for child care;

(4) Whether either party has elected to forego or limit employment in order to care for the child;

(5) Whether child care will allow a party to obtain training or education relating to a job, career or profession; and

(6) Any other relevant factor.

Sec. 8. NAC 425.135 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.135 1. After determining the base child support obligation of an obligor pursuant to NAC 425.140 or 425.145, as applicable, the court must consider the reasonable medical support paid by either or both parties and make an equitable division thereof.

2. Every order issued or modified in this State must include a provision specifying:

(a) That medical support is required to be provided for the child; and

(b) Any details relating to that requirement.

~~12.1~~ 3. As used in this section, “medical support” includes, without limitation, the payment of a premium for accessible medical, vision or dental coverage under a plan of insurance, including, without limitation, a public plan such as Medicaid or a reduced-fee plan such as the Children’s Health Insurance Program, that is reasonable in cost. For the purpose of this subsection:

(a) Coverage under a plan of insurance is “accessible” if the plan:

(1) Is not limited to coverage within a geographical area; or

(2) Is limited to coverage within a geographical area and the child resides within that geographical area.

(b) The payment of a premium for coverage under a plan of insurance is “reasonable in cost” if:

(1) The cost:

(I) To each party who is responsible for providing medical support is not more than 5 percent of the monthly gross income of the party; or

(II) Of adding a dependent child to any existing coverage for health care or the difference between individual and family coverage, whichever is less, is not more than 5 percent of the monthly gross income of the party; and

(2) The court assesses the plan of insurance, including the copayments, deductible and maximum out-of-pocket costs, and determines that the plan is reasonable in cost.

Sec. 9. NAC 425.145 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.145 1. If the court determines that the total economic circumstances of an obligor limit his or her ability to pay a base child support obligation in the amount determined pursuant to NAC 425.140, the base child support obligation must be established by using a low-income schedule which is based on the current federal poverty guidelines, as determined by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and which is published annually in the Federal Register.

2. If the monthly gross income of an obligor is below the lowest level set forth in the low-income schedule, the court may establish an appropriate base child support obligation based on the total economic circumstances of the obligor, balancing his or her need for self-support with the obligation to support his or her child.

3. The low-income schedule must be published by the Administrative Office of the Courts on or before March 31 of each year.

Sec. 10. NAC 425.150 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.150 1. Any child support obligation may be adjusted by the court in accordance with the specific needs of the child and the economic circumstances of the parties based upon the following factors and specific findings of fact:

- (a) Any special educational needs of the child;
- (b) The legal responsibility of the parties for the support of others;
- (c) The value of services contributed by either party;
- (d) Any public assistance , as defined in NRS 422A.065, paid to support the child;
- (e) The cost of transportation of the child to and from visitation;
- (f) The relative income of both households, so long as the adjustment does not exceed the total obligation of the other party;
- (g) Any other necessary expenses for the benefit of the child; and
- (h) The obligor's ability to pay.

2. The court may include benefits received by a child pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 402(d) based on a parent's entitlement to federal disability or old-age insurance benefits pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §§ 401 to 433, inclusive, in the parent's gross income and adjust an obligor's child support obligation by subtracting the amount of the child's benefit. In no case may this adjustment require an obligee to reimburse an obligor for any portion of the child's benefit.

Sec. 11. NAC 425.160 is hereby amended to read as follows:

425.160 1. Except as otherwise provided by law, if an order pertains to only one child, the child support obligation terminates on the first day of the month immediately following the month when the child reaches 18 years of age or, if the child is still in high school, the first day of the month immediately following the month when the child graduates from high school or reaches 19 years of age, whichever comes first.

2. Except as otherwise provided by law, if an order pertains to more than one child and allocates a specific amount of the total child support obligation to each child, the child support obligation for a particular child is terminated beginning on the first day of the month following the date on which the child reaches 18 years of age or, if the child is still in high school, the first day of the month following the date on which the child graduates from high school or reaches 19 years of age, whichever comes first.

3. If an order pertains to more than one child and does not allocate a specific amount of the total child support obligation to each child:

(a) If a party wishes to modify the order when a child reaches 18 years of age or, if the child is still in high school, graduates from high school or reaches 19 years of age, whichever comes first, the party must file a motion to modify the order with the court or submit a stipulation between the parties to the court.

(b) If a motion to modify the order is filed with the court, any modification of the child support obligation:

(1) Must be in compliance with the child support guidelines in existence at the time of the modification for the remaining children to whom the order pertains; and

(2) Unless the parties agree otherwise in a stipulation, will be effective as of the date the motion to modify the order was filed with the court.
